Introduction

This Cookie Policy explains how Sirius Analysis (we, us or our) uses cookies and similar technologies when you visit our website. This should be read alongside our Privacy Policy.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files placed on your device (computer, tablet or mobile) when you visit a website. They help websites function properly, improve user experience and provide information about how the website is used to the website owner.

How we use Cookies?

We use cookies for different purposes.

- Essential Cookies: These are essential for the website to function and cannot be switched off.
- Performance and Analytics Cookies: these cookies are in place to help us understand how visitors interact with our website, this data is anonymised and allows us to make improvements to the website i.e. making it easier to navigate the website.
- Targeting / Advertising Cookies: These cookies may be set through our site by third-party partners to build a profile of your interests and show you relevant advertisements on other sites.
- Functionality Cookies: These allow the website to remember choices that you make and provide an enhanced, more personalised experience.

Third-Party Cookies

Some cookies may be placed on our website by third-party services that appear on our website i.e. Google Maps on our contact us page. These third-party services may collect information about your online activities over time across different websites, including ours.

We recommend viewing the privacy and cookies policy of these third parties for more information. The third-parties we use are Google Analytics whose cookies can remain on your device for up to two years and Google Maps and YouTube whose cookies can remain on your device for up to 13 months.

Managing Cookies

You can control and manage cookies in several ways.

- Cookie consent pop-up: When you first visit our website you will be asked whether you accept or reject non-essential cookies.
- Browser settings: most web browsers allow you to view, manage, delete and block cookies. Please note that if you disable essential cookies, parts of the website may not work properly.
